

LAVA ISLAND

&

The Villain's
Mother

An original of
Ms. Vahue's 3rd grade class at El Sol Elementary
in conjunction with Read And Write Kalamazoo

A Division of Geological & Musicological Survey Co. Publications
Copyright 2018

Published February 6th, 2018

For more information about Read And Write Kalamazoo's literacy focused programs, please visit www.readandwritekzoo.org

Today's Story Helpers Are:

Leader: Jason Conde

Illustrator: Emily Kastner

Typist: Victoria Marcetti

Support: Destin  Price

This publication was supported by

Lava Island & the Villian's Mother

There was once a very strange island made of volcanic rock, the rocks and sand moved about as if possessed by ghosts! Surrounding the island were mysterious pyramids floating in a liquid made up of microscopic shark fins. The sky was pink and filled with beautiful floating flowers but it was also home to giant swarms of termites. It would rain gravity balls that could knock a grown person to the ground!

There were fields of blue roses with bright pink stems that seemed quite normal but in fact could jump! They had teeth inside their buds that would come out if you touched their fuzzy petals. If you could stand to squeeze them they produced a healing elixer. Among the jumping roses there lived fast moving giant rainbow Furry Serpents that shot venom from their eyes and ate ghosts.

To get around this treacherous landscape there were hoverboards and hanggliders that emitted termite repellent. If people needed a quick ride they could grab hold of some pollen or flag down a flying car that had bat wings and a fish tail.

Lava Dog called this place home. It was the size of an adult human and colored to camoflague itself in lava. It lived in a purple and red crystal cave and had a thirst for lava. If it were to drink water it would turn to stone. It could roll around very quickly (one mile every 1.3 seconds!) and worked hard to protect the island from villains that tried to sink it.

One of Lava Dog's friends was Gigantic Waffle who had two waffle heads with mega brains and orange zombie eyes. They lived in a treehouse toaster and were very persuasive. They were an endangered species and they made friends with Lava Dog because it promised to help keep them safe.

Lava Dog's biggest nemesis was Baby Bamboo. They had black and white polka dot hands and wore a blue polka dot onesie with a fox on it. Baby Bamboo did a lot of traveling to their homes in Earth cities and had a special hide out on the island. Baby Bamboo only wore onesies to accommodate the jets that came out of their bottom. Their mother was taken by Lava Dog and they didn't know where she was!

Invisible Lava Rosa lived inside the volcano in a secret passage. They had lava hair, fiery laser eyes, a red body with green legs, sharp nails, and leaves on their arms and hands. They had poison ivy touch and were friends with the jumping roses. They had been exiled to the volcano and had been seeking revenge.

One day Lava Dog and Gigantic Waffle were out patrolling the island and they stumbled upon Invisible Lava Rosa's secret home just as Baby Bamboo was getting there.

"Lava Dog, I miss my mom! Where did you take her?" yelled Baby Bamboo.

"I've been waiting for this day to come," said Lava Dog.

And just then...

Handwriting practice lines on the left page, consisting of 14 horizontal dashed lines.

Handwriting practice lines on the right page, consisting of 8 horizontal dashed lines.