

under the
BANANA
Moon

An original of Ms. Marunde's 3rd grade class at Woodward School for Technology and Research in conjunction with Read And Write Kalamazoo

A Division of Geological & Musicological Survey Co. Publications
Copyright 2018

Published February 13th, 2018

For more information about Read And Write Kalamazoo's literacy focused programs, please visit www.readandwritekzoo.org

Today's Story Helpers Are:

Leader: Jason Conde

Illustrator: Emily Kastner

Typist: Victoria Marcetti

Support: Dan Riehl

This publication was supported by

Little Sprout

Under the Banana Moon

There was once a sunny, beachy world with purple grass and trees that grew ice cream, apples, and money. The moon was made of banana, the grocery store of gingerbread, and ice cream birds flew through the hot waffle air. There were oceans of cranberry juice, lakes of lemonade, kool-aid ice and snow, and it rained tears.

There were fields of flowers with cotton candy leaves, jolly rancher buds, and skittles on top. Waffle Pandas were known to travel in groups and forage for waffle bamboo. There were fish humans that had gingerbread skeletons, waffle skins, and armor to protect their delicate bones. They got around in red-cherry spaceships powered by lemon juice and driven by green one-eyed aliens.

This world was home to Royalty. She was short, black, and had long hair. She lived in a mansion on the beach with her twin brothers JJ and KK. She ate a lot, was super strong, and she could fly! She used to be mean and disrespectful but she learned to be kind and became the protector of her world. One of her good friends was Banana Pants Hedgehog, or Senoc for short. He had spiky hair, a banana shield, a grappling hook, and big boots that helped him walk on water. He lived in Fastville on Banana Pants Island, had shield powers, could walk on the banana moon, and would often fall asleep with his tongue out.

One of the few people who didn't get along with Royalty was Jordan Pinwad Spider Iguana Clown. He was a round green and red iguana who could change colors and he had purple laser eyes that could shrink their targets. He lived in a secret base deep under the desert sand. His home planet was destroyed by Royalty's planet and so he was determined to take revenge.

While hatching his evil plans he would often visit Mr. Andrew Green at the zoo where Mr. Green worked and lived. Mr. Green was a human but he was 11 feet tall and though he was skinny he weighed 500 pounds. He was all green, wore a mask, and if he got mad he turned into Dr. Maniac and could throw pies that came from his pie-a-nator. People thought he looked mean and since that's what was expected of him he just went with it. He didn't want to help Jordan but he was afraid of him so he did what he was told.

One day Royalty and Senoc decided to take a trip to the zoo. Little did they know, Jordan had just arrived to make Mr. Green help him with a new plot.

"Two tickets for the z-OH NO!" said Royalty when she spotted Jordan.

"The time has come!" shouted Jordan. Just then...

Handwriting practice lines on the left page, consisting of 14 horizontal dashed lines.

Handwriting practice lines on the right page, consisting of 8 horizontal dashed lines.