

GUARDIANS of Cavity Island

An original of Ms. Guevara's 5th class
at El Sol Elementary
in conjunction with Read And Write Kalamazoo

A Division of Geological & Musicological Survey Co. Publications
Copyright 2018

Published March 20th, 2018

For more information about Read And Write Kalamazoo's literacy focused programs, please visit www.readandwritekzoo.org

Today's Story Helpers Are:
Leader: Jason Conde
Illustrator: Emily Kastner
Typist: Victoria Marcetti
Support: Destin  Price, Dan Riehl, John Ephland

This publication was supported by

BINGEN
& ASSOCIATES<sub>INC.</sub>

Guardians of Cavity Island

There was once a strange and abandoned wobbly island. It was made of jell-o. Above the island were cotton candy clouds that filled fruit-scented, blue-streaked black skies and once a year the sky turned completely blue. The stars were every color of the rainbow and there were two moons that looked like two different colored eyes gazing out over the candy cane trees and caramel apple trees.

Caramel apple trees grew in chocolate dirt and needed to absorb hot chocolate to complete their photosynthesis. They were accompanied by Medusa-like licorice venus fly traps.

Among the trees you could find rainbow Llamacorns frolicking. Llamacorns fur made a great place for black and white striped cockroaches to live, and also made it easy for the Pigwins who rode them to hold on. Pigwins were kind of like penguins but they were pink and fluffy, oinked, and had curly tails. Eating the cockroaches made them super intelligent.

The island was surrounded by rainbow-colored syrup water.

It would sometimes bubble for no apparent reason but it wasn't sticky. At night it released microsize jell-o dinosaurs and on the day when the sky was blue it would release amazing fireworks. It would rain gumdrops and when they settled into the syrup they created an amazing gumdrop reef.

Getting around in a place like this doesn't sound easy, but you could almost always find a mind-operated cotton candy cloud to fly you around. Or you could grab a ride in a candy car, pull on some rocket shoes, or take a watermelon-fueled time machine to an alternate candy universe.

This beautiful land was home to Aquatic Zapper, who looked like a human with short electric blue hair and one blue eye and one green eye but also had long sharp teeth and a long snakey tongue. They had one regular leg and one that could change between a robot leg and a mermaid tail. They were born in the gumdrop reef and lived under the syrup water and camouflaged to blend in. They could fly, see the future, and were a great swimmer. They had been shunned to the jell-o island by the Dentist and was determined to protect the islands from him.

Dr. Reeces McFlurry, a dentist, lived in an underground ship made of vegetables and fruits. He had white floss hair slicked down with syrup, his arms were covered in tattoos of veggies, and would often wear a shirt featuring a tooth with a cavity. His parents didn't give him candy when he was little so now he doesn't want anyone to have it. He could magically turn sweets into vegetables and had been prosecuted for yanking the teeth of candy-eating kids.

Thankfully Aquatic Zapper was not alone in their quest to protect the candy world, Dr. Donovan Shift was a powerful ally. Dr. Donovan wore glasses and knew everything. It was usually blonde but it's hair changed color with its emotions. It had purple camo skin and came from another galaxy, Aquatic Zapper invited it to live with them. Dr. Donovan Shift also had replication and shapeshifting powers, and could fly.

Dr. McFlurry had also found an ally in Jebly Jones (also known as Jebly Belly). They were Italian and had red hair and a mustache covering their jell-o air head. They had an oblique body and a sloppy googly walk, could shapeshift, make minions out of their own body, and disappear when scared. They lived as a recluse in an underground cabin and were fueled by the licorice medusa fly traps. They wanted to avenge their father's death by the hands of Aquatic Zapper and had gleaned a lot of evil from watching movies.

One day Aquatic Zapper and Dr. Donovan Shift were enjoying a lovely afternoon tea. Little did they know, Dr. Reeces McFlurry and Jebly Jones were just outside waiting to strike...

Handwriting practice lines on the left page, consisting of 15 horizontal dashed lines.

Handwriting practice lines on the right page, consisting of 8 horizontal dashed lines.