Suggah and the Adventures of Mystery Island

Once upon a time there was a bouncy land shaped like a star with a beach surrounding it called Mystery Island. This island is a secret land whose shape is kept away from the government so no one on the land knows that it is a star. On this magical island it rains liquid that tastes like jolly ranchers and snows root beer every day! It is very cold here because of the icy sun shining over the island. There are abandoned lollipop rainforests with jello rocks and chocolate erupting volcanos. This island has a desert made out of dry crackers where the sour patch cactus reside. In the lollipop forest the ground is covered with licorice grass and emoji petaled flowers. There are fire flowers with cold blue flames and skittles on its petals that release soft bird sounds. On this magical island there are Unicows with a cowhead, long horn, and mile-long tails that poop jellybeans. There are also Icecream Cows and Jello Unicorns who say “mocha chiii” and “boom” every now and then and dragons who eat the chocolate dirt on the island.

On Mystery island the people get around by purchasing watches that release lightening to transport you to an invisible private jet or inside a cloud car which use a flying magic spell. On this island there are certain rules that everyone must follow. First, everyone has a right to own a dragon. Second, when you are born on this island you recieve all the money that you want from Suggah. Third, you never go out at night and be creative due to the no-creative law. The government hinders the people on the island from being creative so you have to be secret about your creativities! Lastly, stay away from the sour patch kid cacti. They are dangerous and super scary.

On Mystery Island there lives our hero Suggah who wears a mask of gold and silver, and a leaotard with leggings because of her flexible gymnastic skills. Suggah shoots lots of money and strives to be evil alongside her pet named Snowjoball. Snowjoball is a shapeshifting magician with a screeching supersonic scream, who has robotic cyborg eyes and can blend into clouds. Snowjoball is the only one on the island that knows that it is a star.

Suggah is the secret sibling of the Gummy Bear President who made the horrible no-creative law of Mystery Island. Gummy Bear President changed his name to Sir Antivity after he moved to the chocolate erupting volcanos. Sir Antivity shoots whipped cream, break dances, time travels, and is secretly making a map with his creature named Bomber Boomer Blitz the Third. Bomber Boomer was originally a dragon who was turned into a mean fighting monster that turns people into plants by Sir Antivity that farts lightening that smells like rotten eggs.

One day Suggah left the jungle and traveled to the volcano where Sir Antivity lived. Suggah demanded to know what shape the island was however, Sir Antivity refused to tell the secret and said, "I don't know, why don't you ask Snowjoball." Just then....
