

Sweet
Home

HALASKA

An original of Communities In Schools 3rd, 4th, & 5th grade students at Arcadia Elementary
in conjunction with Read And Write Kalamazoo

A Division of Geological & Musicological Survey Co. Publications
Copyright 2018

Published May 17th, 2018

For more information about Read And Write Kalamazoo's literacy focused programs, please visit www.readandwritekzoo.org

Today's Story Helpers Are:

Leader: Jason Conde

Illustrator: Emily Kastner

Typist: Victoria Marcetti

Support: Destin  Price, Bradley Murray, Jeddie Sophronuis, Mark Anthony Majcher, Grace Wellman

Sweet Home Halaska

There was once a world called Halaska that was half very hot and dry and half very cold. The two sides were connected by a giant rainbow. There was a lollipop forest, a gumdrop desert, chocolate hills and trees, and ice cream snow. The skies were golden blue and filled with dinosaur clouds that would rain swords and horses. The air was hot and heavy like lava and despite all the sweets around, it usually smelled like rotten eggs.

The foul smell came from huge, heavy, triangle-shaped Jeffy plants. They were gold and blue and their stems were shaped like swords. They each had a mouth-like opening that emitted a smell similar to that of horse manure.

Halaska was home to a special animal called the Unilizoworf, a rainbow donut lizard unicorn that could turn into a wolf lizard unicorn when it visited the snowy side. They had pastel green, blue, and white unicorn horns, wolf ears and tails, and strawberry-mint flavored donuts. They liked to ride the rainbow that separated the snowy and hot sides of the world.

The roads were candy bowling alleys with candy bar pins and the sidewalks were chocolate basketball courts. So in order to not disturb people's bowling games, the candy cars floated in the air. People also used the chocolate rivers to get around, either by swimming or in chocolate boats. There was also an abundance of candy portals for quick trips, and access to time machines for more complicated adventures.

In addition to the chocolate rivers there were blue gelatin lakes and oceans. There were also rainbow candy lakes and the occasional pool of liquid nitrogen. Between the more lethal sword and horse rain were storms of dinosaur eggs that tasted like sour vanilla. Most people drank soda with flavors like flowermello (flowers and marshmallow), oreo, and Popsicle.

Valam called Halaska home. She had beautiful candy hair that was always in a french braid, light blue candy eyes, licorice eyelashes, rose gold lips, and french fry fingers with ketchup and mustard nail polish. Her outfit was decorated to look like the galaxy. She lived in her diary and was a princess but didn't know it. She was a famous singer, was super sweet, very helpful, and never stole anyone else's candy.

Beast Boy '07 was Valam's friend. He was funny, weird, buff, scary, and hairy. He had wavy black and blonde hair, one black eye and one blue, wore black and white Nike clothes and Jordan shoes. He lived in a gingerbread mansion on a lake island and had a golden diamond sword that could transform into any tool he needed. He had wings and could fly or float in his chocolate bugatti. He had a lot of friends and he helped protect people from bad guys. He could revive good guys and saved people and animals from danger.

Evil Dee Francis also lived in this world in a lair under the gelatin ocean, it was invisible to everyone but her. She had glowing red eyes, dark red gold skin, wore a cape, and could shapeshift. People often didn't recognize her except for her glowing eyes. She could also poop money and chocolate coins. No one knew the details but she had a bad history and so they usually stayed away.

One person who wasn't scared away by Evil Dee was Black Mub Mouth. He had green skin, a blonde mohawk that grew longer every day, a marked face, and a long curly mustache. He had 3 legs and 15 toes on each foot and wore a brown shirt and white shorts. His special powers included morphing into any object, flying, super-jumping, could move with superspeed, and had amazing nun chuck skills. He lived in the lollipop forest but would often head to visit Evil Dee Francis who was his friend and cousin.

One day he and Dee were hanging out on the shore of the gelatin ocean just spending some time together. Dee was thinking about her past and feeling sour.

Just then Valam and Beastboy '07 spotted them and decided it was time to confront them about Dee's past and the safety of their world...

Welcome to

HALASKA

