

RAINBOW

Ocean

IN A RAINBOW

UNIVERSE

An original of
Ms. Buckley's 3rd grade class at Lincoln International Studies School in conjunction with Read And Write Kalamazoo

A Division of Geological & Musicological Survey Co. Publications
Copyright 2018

Published October 10th, 2018

For more information about Read And Write Kalamazoo's literacy focused programs, please visit www.readandwritekzoo.org

Today's Story Helpers Are:

Leader: Jason Conde

Typist & Illustrator: Victoria Marcetti

Support: John Ephland, Rachel Rickli, Christian Heiss, Joseph Walker, Karleen Marginean, Lori Terrell

This publication was supported by

JAMES & SPRINGGATE, PLC

Rainbow Ocean in a Rainbow Universe

There was once a universe made up of ice cream scoop planets on cone bases. These oddly shaped planets were subject to a lot of strange rains including candy, cotton candy, fidget spinners, money, bikes, small animals, takis, and protein shakes. The air felt good and smelled like ice cream and roses. There were colby jack cheese islands, cotton candy lands, and a faraway tropical island called Grapeland where people wore cotton candy clothes, candy cone shoes, and cake pants. High in the sky of Grapeland was a mysterious mansion.

On these planets it was morning and night at the same time and the chocolate ice cream sun and cotton candy glitter stars shone all the time.

Surrounding Grapeland was a rainbow colored ocean that smelled like strawberries and sprite. The ocean was home to mermaids who made cupcakes and pancakes every morning. There was a grape soda river that smelled like grapes and peaches, in the middle of the river was a mountain volcano that would shoot candy when you hit it. All over this universe you could find a curious giraffe-type creature that was the size of a mouse. They were black and blue, had bat wings and antlers, and ate honey.

Grapeland was home to a special animal that resembled a bear but was green and brown and had zebra legs and a mohawk. They smelled like peaches and strawberries, loved to read, and told anyone who would listen that they liked honey. To get around there were cake skateboards with donut wheels and hamburger bun trucks with hot cheeto dispensers. There were also roller-skates made of cotton candy with chocolate chip rockets, pizza wheels, marshmallow scarves, and bowling ball chip brakes.

Growing in these worlds were taki flowers and chocolate-barked bushes that grew phones amid their strawberry leaves. You could dip the strawberry leaves in the chocolate bark for a nice treat.

There were also talking chocolate cotton candy trees and spider twizzler plants.

Jolly and Panther John-Spike were twin sister and brother who lived on one of the ice cream scoop planets and often vacationed on Grapeland. They were tiny like ants and had ten arms each so they could do a lot at once. They turned blue when they were cold and red when they were hot. Jolly had pink and red hair with rainbow streaks, could shoot cotton candy rainbows, and was a world-class back-flipper. They worked hard to confront bad guys and to make sure that everyone in their community had a cotton candy and jolly rancher home to live in.

Super Boy & Girl lived in a cat mansion in the rainbow desert. It had a tiger face and sharp teeth and loved to eat steak and mashed potatoes. It was made of gold and had diamond eyes, could fly with super-speed, was strong enough to punch through the universe, and had two kids and a pet dog. It was motivated to help Jolly and Panther by its love for its own kids.

Raymond, a garlic-hating vampire, did NOT like that they helped people. He lived under the rainbow ocean. He was bald, had elf ears, blue and red eyes, a square nose, big orange canines, and wore a black mask and a black sweater with a yorkie dog on it. He had laser eyes, could shoot candy canes, and had marshmallow powers that could stick people to the wall.

Tattoo Gucci Dog was Raymond's loyal cousin who lived in the big mansion in the sky. He walked on two legs like a zombie, had blue eyes and wore camera glasses, and had sticky cotton candy football gloves. He had a hoverboard, threw gummy bear arrows, and could talk to the green and brown bears.

One day Jolly and Panther were vacationing on Grapeland and had invited Super Boy&Girl to come for a swim. As they were relaxing on their day off at the rainbow beach, Raymond and Tattoo Gucci Dog were sneaking up behind them, planning something evil...

Handwriting practice lines on the left page, consisting of 15 horizontal dashed lines.

Handwriting practice lines on the right page, consisting of 8 horizontal dashed lines.