Super Friends Versus the Sadness

There was once a world so beautiful that it had candy corn grass, taki trees, cotton candy hills, and more rainbow candy drinking water than you could ever finish. The lightning bolt riddled land was 1/3 apple, 1/3 cherry, and 1/3 robots and was dotted with pony-shaped not-so-quick-sand lakes. There were salt water figurine oceans with gummy sharks and butterfly boats. There were 1025 foot mountains and the roads were trampolines. The sun was hot and surrounded by marshmallow clouds and the lovely scent of cooked chicken filled the air. The wind sounded like birds chirping and the sea sounded like snakes. The houses and stores and schools all floated in the air, close to the Mood Moon. The moods of the Mood Moon are as follows: Orange-Love, Blue-Sad, Red-Mad, Green-Sick). If you were unfortunate to get stuck out in a laser rain storm, the drops would make you forget your memories for 30 minutes! Growing throughout the world were tulips as tall as the sky that you could climb to reach the marshmallow clouds, and roses that were even taller, who would snag the marshmallows and tulips to eat later. There were fields of daisies with fruit gumdrops and giant sunflowers that ate all the other plants. Living among these giant flowers were a wide variety of animals including pillow-soft bunnies, birds that spit candy and others that spit money, half silver half gold cheetahs with super long feet, elk with gold antlers and pebble sized feet, zebras that were faster than cheetahs and strong enough to lift a whole school, waterproof unicorns, bears that danced all day and all night, blue wolves that spoke a special wolf language, and frogs who rained from the clouds.

Many different liquids flowed around this world. There were milk rivers, edible cottage cheese waterfalls, orange juice oceans, cheddar cheese puddles, cherry soda streams, and rainbow candy lakes with rose petal lily pads.

Grown ups drove cars on the ground and kids drove flying cars that ran on orange juice. There were airplane bikes and motorcycles and a special train system that ran on the ground and through the sky.

Mr. Hot Cold called this fantastic world home. He was as tall as a basketball player, had spiky rainbow hair and wore a red cape, had a mouse tail, and wore fast white shoes. He lived in a mansion under the orange juice ocean that could only be opened by playing a special song. He could make fire with one hand and ice with the other, had a force field to protect him from the laser rain, and could use other people's powers. He wanted to protect people from getting hurt and wanted to create a world where everything is free.

His best friend was a very special person who was a girl by the name of Ava during the day and a boy by the name of Jackson at night. They each had one half of a special heart necklace, when fused together it transformed them to Joanne. Ava had rainbow skin and black hair with blue highlights. She wore a lava dress that complimented her necklace. Jackson had red skin and blue birthmarks, short hair that was half gold and half silver, and wore a sideways hat. They lived under the figurine ocean in a lab with a force field. They had laser eyes that could turn bad guys to stone but were very kind and good at talking things out. They were super strong and super fast and great at arm wrestling bad guys. They wanted to help Mr. Hot Cold because they wanted to spread kindness.

Steve Herber lived in the jungle in a camo spaceship. His DNA had been mixed up with alien DNA and turned him into an ugly alien so he was only comfortable around other aliens. He had dark skin and big eyes, a big nose, big hands, and big feet, long fingers, a shiny bald head, and a smile that reached his temples. He didn't like Mr. Hot Cold because he was envious of his mansion.

Tiger Girl was Steve's only non-alien friend. She was tall, had tiger ears, black boots, fur with black and white stripes, a white stomach, braided hair, and wore a leather suit. Her eyes glowed in the dark and she had big claws. She lived in a forest cave and could control plants. She could run 80 miles per hour, fly, and blast lava from her hands, mouth, and tail. She could also see in the dark and climb anything- but she was afraid of mice. She cared about Steve and wanted him to find his power.

One day Joanne was visiting Mr. Hot Cold for a nice lunch and Steve and Tiger Girl were walking around Mr. Hot Cold's mansion. Steve was feeling extra angry and envious and yelling about it when all the sudden, Mr. Hot Cold and Joanne appeared in the doorway...
